Group Assignment Day 4 – CMS for the MacEwan University (macewan.ca)

Purpose

This task helps you become more familiar with the fundamentals of WordPress by installing a new instance of WordPress on a remote server, creating pages, posts, a menu(s), users, and adding themes and plugins.

A second purpose of this task is to get practice working with a team – learning how to split up the responsibilities for a project and ensure all the requirements are covered across a larger website implementation of WordPress.

Due

Your team will present your website to the rest of the class and the instructor during the afternoon of Day 4. Presentations begin at 1:30pm.

Directions

MacEwan University in Edmonton, Alberta is looking for a new web site. The current site they have is an old design and not responsive.

They have the following requirements for their proof of concept:
- design a website that would encourage students to come visit and get educated at the University. It must have an 'inviting' look and feel. Colours and fonts are up to your discretion.
    - o For the sake of time, use images you find on the web about MacEwan University (or post-secondary education) for your site
- Use the text from the current macewan.ca site for content in these pages below. Try and get as much of the site map completed and working as you can.
- Have a menu on each page of the site that displays all the pages created with the hierarchy of the site map below.
- Have links and icons to social media.
- Create and implement a favicon for the site.
- Be prepared to answer questions about the justification for your design (why you used the design you did and how elements of the design relate specifically to MacEwan University
- Delegate tasks strategically based on strengths and weaknesses of your team. Create users in WordPress for each member of the team and ensure that they all have a part to play in creating the site in WordPress.
